New Products and Services

Video databases, patron-driven acquisition, and more....

UNE Library Services is pleased to announce a plethora of fantastic new resources for your use. All of the following databases will be available from library homepage www.une.edu/library under Databases by Title link, or from within related major guides.

Spotlight on Video Databases

Counseling and Therapy in Video contains over 400 hours of video spanning dozens of therapeutic methods, diagnoses, and cultural groups, and is an essential resource for counseling and therapy programs across the curriculum—in psychology, social work, education, nursing, health, and medicine.

- synchronized transcripts for every video
- videos are indexed and searchable
- playlist and clip-making tools
- per-second permanent URLs
- easily access, cite, and share video footage.

What is Patron-Driven Acquisition (PDA)?

PDA is a form of collection development that is gaining popularity in academic libraries. Basically it means you - the patron - help decide what we buy for our collection. We add thousands of records to our catalog of eBooks that we don't actually own. You find one in our catalog, use it, and then presto! it is purchased and becomes a permanent part of our collection. This all happens behind the scenes. The best part is: you have instant access to a book you need, when you need it. We are very excited about this new venture and hope you are too.
